

Methamphetamine Clandestine Lab Cleanup Regulations by State

State	What is the standard?	Any special cleanup procedures?	Who performs the cleanup?	Who pays for the cleanup?	Pertains to clan labs, smoking, or both?
Alabama	No Standard		Contractor and Property Owners	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Alaska	"fit-for-use" standard based on sampling		Contractors and property owners with prior OSHA-approved HAZMAT training	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Arizona	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		A registered firm	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Arkansas	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Contractors (not certified by the DOH)	Property Owner	Clan Lab
California	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Contractors	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Colorado	0.5 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Contractors or Industrial Hygienists (not contracted or regulated by the DOH)	Property Owner	Clan Lab; John Martyny has evidence of sufficient contamination from smoking methamphetamine
Connecticut	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Property Owners; Contractors (trained and equipped to conduct cleanup); Certified Industrial Hygienists with oversight of local health and building inspection authorities	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Delaware	No Standard
D.C.	No Standard
Florida	No standard regulations for secondary cleanup		Licensed Contractor (licensed by health dept); Property Owner		Clan Lab
Georgia	No standard; Property Owners have no legal responsibility to conduct additional cleanup		Contractors (CDL certified); Property Owners	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Hawaii	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>	An environmental consultant should be hired	HEER Office notifies property owner and initiates the cleanup process, however sole responsibility of property owner; Qualified Environmental Professional	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Idaho	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>	Clearance sampling must be done by an Industrial Hygienist	Contractors; Property Owners	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Illinois	No standard, just a practical approach based on cleanup and disposal	Does not recommend routine sampling	Contractors; Property Owners	Property Owner; also legally responsible if persons get sick after entering a contaminated building	Clan Lab
Indiana	No standard; goes on a case-by-case basis		Contractors and property owners with prior OSHA-approved HAZMAT training	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Iowa	No standard; no tracking method or general listing of homes that were used as clan labs		Environmental companies trained in hazardous substance removal and cleanup; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Kansas	No standard		Environmental Companies; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab

Kentucky	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup> , unless the cabinet promulgates and administrative regulation providing for a different standard		Contractors certified by the Environmental and Public Protection Cabinet (EPPC)	Meth Producers are civilly liable for cleanup costs; Property Owners	Clan Lab
Louisiana	No Standard; No Disclosure Laws		No CDL regulations; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Maine	No standard			"Lab Cleanup is beyond the financial capabilities of Maine cities and towns"
Maryland	No standard; local health districts have no legal mandate to address meth labs	If meth lab is found, local law enforcements may secure the scene, but then the DEA is contacted for any further action.	Private Contractor (hired by DEA)	Property Owner or DEA depending on what's being cleaned.	Clan Lab
Massachusetts
Michigan	No standard		Contractors (not licensed or regulated by the DOH)	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Minnesota	Relies on a remediation standard rather than achievement of a number that is not science-based	No residual risk (get rid of everything), minimum residual risk, acceptable residual risk	Contractors (not licensed or regulated by the DOH)	Property Owner; meth "cooks" can pay restitution; Revolving Cleanup Loan Fund (lent to counties and cities)	Clan Lab
Mississippi	No Standard; No Disclosure Laws			Property Owner	Clan Lab
Missouri	No standard		Environmental companies trained in hazardous substance removal and cleanup; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Montana	0.1 ug/100cm <sup>2</sup> ; standard can be changed by the Department of Environmental Quality		Certified Contractors	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Nebraska	No Standard			Property Owner	Clan Lab
Nevada			Certified Contractors	Property Owner
New Hampshire	No Standard; State Disclosure Laws in place			Property Owner	Clan Lab
New Jersey
New Mexico	1 ug/ft <sup>2</sup>	Department advises that the firm doing the preliminary evaluation be different than the one doing the cleanup	A remediation firm	Property Owner	Clan Lab
New York	No Standard			Property Owner	Clan Lab
North Carolina	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Responsible Party; Property Owner; Decon Specialist	Property Owner	Clan Lab
North Dakota	No standard; if buying a house, a property owner has to disclose if the house was used as a meth lab

Ohio	No standard; local health districts have no legal mandate to address meth labs		Contractors (not licensed or regulated by the DOH)	Property Owners	Clan Lab
Oklahoma	No standard; if buying a house, a property owner has to disclose if the house was used as a meth lab, if just renting a property, owner does not have to disclose		Contractors; Property Owners	Property Owners	Clan Lab
Oregon	0.5 ug/ft <sup>2</sup>		Licensed Contractor; Property Owner; Property Owner's Agent	Property Owners; City or county fund; Department of Environmental Quality assists when the environment has been contaminated	Clan Lab
Pennsylvania	No Standard
Rhode Island	No Standard
South Carolina	No standard	Companies hired by the DEA focus on "gross decon"		Property Owner	Clan Lab
South Dakota	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Contractors (not certified by the DOH)	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Tennessee	0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>	Tennessee Department of Environment & Conservation (TDEC) certified CML Hygienist, or Certified Industrial Hygienist must be contacted to test and certify that it is "Safe for Human Use" in order to have it released from quarantine.	CML Cleanup Contractors and Hygienists	Property Owner or Lien Holder; Some insurance policies may cover cost associated with a cleanup, but most do not	Clan Lab
Texas	No Standard; No Disclosure Laws
Utah
Vermont	No standard		Someone with specialized training	Property Owner; State and Local Police Budgets; Land Owners	Clan Lab
Virginia	No standard	DEA's regulated cleanup contractor will be contacted to make arrangements for removal of gross contaminants	Only Certified Clandestine Lab Response Personnel for initial response; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Washington	<0.1 ug/100 cm <sup>2</sup>		Contractors (certified by the DOH)	Property Owner	Clan Lab
West Virginia	No Standard		Contractor and Property Owners	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Wisconsin	No standard; based on a visual/sensory assessment and how well the cleanup guidelines were followed	Sampling not needed; if environment is contaminated, then notify the right agency	Contractors; Property Owners	Property Owner	Clan Lab
Wyoming	No standards		Environmental companies trained in hazardous substance removal and cleanup; Property Owner	Property Owner	Clan Lab